

Art World

From Botticelli to Bruce Lee, 25 Museum Exhibitions to See in the US This Spring

The Birth of Venus is taking her spring break in America this year.

Caroline Goldstein, March 27, 2017

Eduardo Chillida, In Praise of the Void, VI (2000). Chillida Belzunce Family Collection / © 2017 Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York. Image courtesy of Ordovas.

"Chillida: Rhythm-Time-Silence" at the Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art, May 5–December 3

Positioned throughout the Donald J. Sculpture Park and activating the nearby Theis Park, seven hulking Corten steel sculptures by Eduardo Chillida will be on view to the public in a collaboration with the Kansas City Parks and Recreation Department.

Nelson-Atkins is located at 4525 Oak St, Kansas City, MO 64111, hours are Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday, and Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Admission to the Sculpture Park and Museum is free.