

JUNE 2019 / DIARY / BY EMILY ADAMS

FIVE TOP PICKS FOR LONDON ART WEEK

Celebrating 5,000 years of art, London Art Week is back in Mayfair and St James's for its 2019 summer edition. The biannual event returns from 27 June – 5 July, allowing you to discover the 48 different galleries from Hill Street to Savile Row. With so many exhibitions, talks and decorative art displays on offer, here are the highlights.

Sold & Let
Butcher.com

Behr & Butcher Residential Sales & Lettings
020 7732 7222

About Us

The Magazine

Home

LATEST TWEETS

This weekend promises sunshine and the ultimate garden party in Bloomsbury. #cocktailsinthecity's new home is Bedfo... <https://t.co/Q0lcxs4Wt0>

24 hours ago

José Antonio Suárez Londoño, 039, 2003

Always Drawing, José Antonio Suárez Londoño, Works on Paper, 1997-2018

One exhibition we'll be sure to visit is at Ordovas on Savile Row. It's dedicated to Colombian artist José Antonio Suárez Londoño (JASL) who has spent the last four decades working meticulously on the practice of drawing: "I was born with a pencil in my hand," says Suárez Londoño. Specialising in small-scale pieces, the artist has chosen 100 drawings and 50 etchings from the last 20 years to showcase in this collection, with drawings on everything from objects and landscapes to textile patterns and colour studies. It is widely known that JASL does not own a computer and therefore takes inspiration from photographs, classical texts and even pop songs. While he is one of the most respected and renowned living artists in his Colombian homeland, he has only recently gained international recognition so now is the opportunity to discover just what all the fuss is about. Ordovas, 25 Savile Row, ordovasart.com