In September we published a contemporary art calendar in RA Magazine to recommend some of essential shows springing up in London to coincide with the annual Frieze Art Fair in Regent's Park. But our inboxes have since been submerged by emails about other interesting exhibitions across the capital: so many shows that it has been a challenge to whittle them down to the following twenty for this fortnight, each summarised in a tight ten words in the order in which they open.
